Join us to take part in a discussion of the latest research, policy developments and good practices on preventing and addressing violence and harassment against women in and through the world of work. This event should contribute to highlighting key trends, challenges and opportunities to step up efforts for preventing and eliminating all forms of violence and harassment in the world of work.