When rural women migrate to the cities for university education – men stay behind and risk reclusion. This reality can be found in rural communities in the Nordic region. Reversing the trend will require initiatives to make rural areas more attractive to women: more skilled jobs, better digital infrastructure and new gender norms.

Join this panel of experts analysing rural realities and discussing how to raise the prospects for gender equality for all!

The panel is moderated by Gary Barker, CEO of Promundo