UN Women in collaboration with the Government of Uganda, the Government of Ethiopia and the SDG Center for Africa are pleased to host:

HARNESSING “CITIZEN GENERATED DATA” FOR EFFECTIVE MONITORING AND REPORTING OF THE SDG GOAL 5 AND OTHER GENDER-RELATED SDGs INDICATORS: CHALLENGES AND OPPORTUNITIES

MONDAY, MARCH 19, 2018
3:00 PM – 4:15 PM
United Nations Secretariat, Conference Room 11

Improving the production, availability and accessibility of quality gender statistics is indispensable for monitoring and generating evidence that can inform policy actions and investment. Despite the existence of regular censuses and surveys conducted by NSOs to inform the data needs, there are huge gaps in obtaining data for gender-related indicators in the SGDs. This event will: (i) Explore alternative sources of data in collaboration with state and non-governmental organizations, (ii) Aid in understanding citizen-generated data as complimentary source of data, (iii) Discuss effective use, dissemination and communication of gender statistics.

Keynote address by Phumzile Mlambo-Ngcuka, UN Women Executive Director

Panelists:
Uganda Bureau of Statistics
Ethiopia Statistics Agency
SDGs center for Africa
Philippines Statistical agency
SADC Barometer
African Development Bank
African Monitor
