Inform Women, Transform Lives: Priorities for Advancing Women’s Right to Information

Conference Room 11, UN Headquarters
4:45–6:00 PM
Tuesday, March 20, 2018

Access to information is a fundamental human right. But across the globe, women are not able to equally exercise this right and access the myriad benefits it provides. Join our panelists for a conversation on priorities for women’s right of access to information for economic empowerment and promotion and protection of rights, challenges, and the way forward.

MODERATOR:
Ambassador Louise Blais
Ambassador and Deputy Permanent Representative of Canada to the United Nations

PANELISTS:
Ms. Ana Maria Menendez Perez
Senior Advisor of the Secretary-General on Policy
Ms. Randi Davis
Director, Gender Team, United Nations Development Programme
Ms. Laura Neuman
Director, Global Access to Information Program, The Carter Center
Ms. Bandana Rana
Committee Member, Committee on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination Against Women
Ms. Dubravka Simonovic
United Nations Special Rapporteur for Violence Against Women
Ms. Christina Tilghman
Economic Policy Advisor, Office of Global Women’s Issues, U.S. Department of State

RSVP by Friday, March 16th
Email: elizabeth.mcglamry@cartercenter.org
*CSW or UN pass-holders can reply up to day of event