The Beijing Platform for Action is a milestone for women's empowerment and gender equality. And a lot has been achieved since the adoption 20 years ago. In order to further advance gender equality and ensure gender equality for women, we need to discuss the role and responsibility of men for advancing, achieving and promoting gender equality. This is the only way we can ensure continued progress towards a future gender-equal society.

The Nordic ministers for gender equality will organize a side event to the CSW in order to discuss the role and responsibility of men in gender equality work.
