subject:Invitation to the UN Global Compact Leaders Summit

You are invited to attend the 2017 Leaders Summit

Dear Mr. Rantastia Nur Alangan,

Less than 5,000 days. That is all the time we have left to meet the UN Sustainable Development Goals. To achieve this ambition by the 2030 deadline, we need all sectors of society to work together, including the full weight of the private sector. You can be a part of this mission by joining us at the UN Global Compact Leaders Summit 2017, taking place on 21 September at the New York Hilton Midtown, 1335 6th Ave, New York, NY.

The 2017 Leaders Summit seeks to challenge the status quo and the business-as-usual mindset. Held as part of UN General Assembly week — the UN's most high-profile week of the year — the Leaders Summit will convene a network of international leaders from business, civil society, academia, Government and the United Nations to take stock of progress on the Global Goals and identify what needs to happen next.

We will review progress to-date through the release of our Impact Report, which compiles 10 years of data on participant sustainability reporting. Looking forward, the Summit will present new platforms to help raise our collective ambition: the Blueprint for SDG Leadership, which will set a high bar for action, and the pioneering SDG Reporting mechanism to improve the way we measure and report on progress. In addition, we will share new, latest innovative best practices to help deliver the Goals.
